Dear Mountview Families,

Summer is almost here but your child can hold on to what they have learned this year by continuing their reading, thinking and creating all summer long. Our school's subscription to PebbleGo now includes this wonderful program to keep your child engaged with a wide range of free activities centered on reading, creating, coding, science, physical fitness/movement, technology and more!

Visit Capstone's Summer Choice Boards with your child. A password should not be required. Talk through the different choices they have for learning, reading, creating and more. Note that some of the activities may require additional materials and resources if your child chooses to do that particular activity, and many require no additional materials. It's recommended that you look through the choice board beforehand to get an idea of what the activities may involve.

Your child will have received a summer reading log to complete and bring to Library Media class in September for a prize.

For more information, details, and the activities please click the link below, then click "Family Letter".
